THERD ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GE-QLOGY OF MAINE

The slate quarter on the Piscalagnia, describ. ed in a former reput, were found to cross the Kenneb c in the towns of Bingham and Mosrow. In the latter town beautiful slates were discovered splitting out, in some instances from three to six feet, and in one instance fen fretisquieres .. Dr. Jackson makes another to the slate quarries in the county of Piccata-.gals, discovers new localities and thinks that one-quarry which becamutely examined in the town of Foxeroft, would yield one million tons of riste. . He raye that the "rook in this quarry is perfectly sound, free from impurities and uplits to the proper thickness required for making moning and writing slates." In relation to these state quarties he gives the following statistical information.

England had an opportunity of examining the l'enrhyn slate quarries near Bangor in Wales, I' take the liberty of giving to you some of the information obtained, and the observations I have inade upon them, and which if they can be of a ny use to you in illustrating the advantages to capitalists to turn their attention to the work ing of them, will conter immease benefits upon the community, - reducing of the premiums of insurance, consequent upon their general use, and avoiding of those destructive fires which so often in a night destroy the accumulations of years of industry, I shall be amply repaid. They are situated on the north coast of Wales.

There are generally from twenty, to thirty to. sels in the shipping season, waiting for cargoes The production of the quarries is estimated at about 200 lone per day, through the year; they are the property of a Mr. Pennant, a gentleman of the highest estimation, who devotes the large income derived from them, in improving their -productiveness, and in ornamenting his estates, the has converted the half savage and turbulent Weich mountaineer into the peaceable and quiet laborer and agriculturalist, and apread comfort and happiness over his wide domain ; and from the ready market afforded at the quarries. for its agricultural products, the con has been converted into a perfect garden. The net annual income from these quarries is said to be on an average of $70,000 sterling or $336,000. The slates are sold, delivered up $12.00; and the next smaller sizes, of an equal quality, and in equal quantities of each; at an average of about $10.00 The other inferior sized toofing slabs, which are more generally used, are sold-by the thousand of twelve hundred, and weigh per thousand from 66 cwt: to 13 cwt. and varying in size from 24 by 19 inches to 11 by 54 inches the first five and best mires averaging $10 per ton, and the next four sizes, which are not often exported, $5.50. To there prices are to be added the climping charges, Treight, "insurance, commission, &c. &c., altogether amounting to quite one half the abave largest sum to say nothing of the breakage and to all of which must be added the merchant's and dealer's profits; so it may quite safely be calculated that glates sannot be ever for less than twenty five dollars per ton. There quarries are probably better situated for shipping to the United States than any other in Eubearings, one cannot but come to the conclusion that if the working of some of the slate quarries in Maloe were commenced, upon a scale commensurate with their importance, and the great and increaming demand for the article, half cents a quart. and conducted with ordinary skill and economy, that from them the whole court of America and ... uch of the interior, especially of New England, would be supplied; and it could hard ing. RAY'S PREMIUM PLOUGH.

Every improvement in agricultural implements by which libor is abridged and the culti-Father of the will trade and more productive and certain, is a subject worthy consideration and encouragement. It is with peculiar pleasure that we mention the fact that Col. M. Ray an ingenious mechanic of this city, has succeeded in inventing a plough that seems to combine === ery desirable requisite, except going alone; and even in this it is not much deficient, agit requires | flected back to Henven the thousand resplendless than the usual power to propel it, and less than the usual trouble to guide it.

These ploughs are made in great numbers by Meeste. It rlfour readers wish to see some beautiful specimens of finished we kmanship in the carringe line, "done up" equal to one of Sharp's needles, we advise them to walk into the establighment of Thomas J. Whiton & Co on Harlow street, and examine a few gems. These enterprising men are winning golden opinions among our citizens for their persevering industry, and for the firmness, finish and beauty of their work They have turned out several carriages the present season, and have two or three now on hand, and no person wishing a fashionable and substantial chaine or other carriage, would think of obtaining one made at any other place in the country, while Whiton & Co can supply Dear Sir Having during a recent visit to them. Such men deserve encouragement, and we are hippy to learn that they receive it disease from overy part of the body:

According to the Netural or Indian theory, all our complaints owe their origin to one cause, viz the Morting up of those noticis, (the ship bulgers and howels) through which nature has intended that all corrupt an I useless matters shall be carried from the hody. When these become closed, it is like shutting up of a water course, sither the accumulated waters find a new outlet or har country becomes inundreed; just an with the human body; if the American discussion of the print the print and the mulate in the system, and either find vent in the for of various diventes, web as fevers, thought train, cuteneous gruptions, gout, tee, or eppoplexy and theath ends the scene The only sensible methand treath early the steme. Incoming mensions returned, therefore, of preventing and furing disease, is to keep the body coutinually purged of all the uscless and corrupt humors; and far this purpose no medicing will be found so effected; as the Indian Purgative, occause it is the only one whose power extends to the opening of all the natural drains of the body. Whilst under the influence of this singular medicine, the body will be kept in a gentle but effectual perspiration; a proper discharge of urine will be experienced, the stomach and bowels will he thoroughly cleaned; and the blood will be sumalated to hamily itself. One very common objection urged by some who but padrally understand the principle of curing disease by purgation as promulgated by the North American College of Health, is that although reiterated purging will cure disease; yet that the re-peated exercising of those organs will injure or de-stroy their tone. Those who raise objections appear to forget that purging is as natural in the bowelv as walking in to the feet or labor to the hands, and like every other function must be duly exercised in order to retain their energies,

How persons can comprehend the netion of veg etable purgation, by what my sterious process the blood is by them stimulated to deposite its impurities into the bonels; or how those organs are excited to evacuate the corrupt hunors from the body all can understand when they experience relief I'he geatlemen who composé the North American College of Health would therefore extnessly invite all who are suffering from disease of any kind to make a trool of the Indian Vegetald. Pdl. Assisting Nature should be our chief study, and for this purpose, the Indian Purantys will be found the most of fectual medicine ever offered to the public. Its power being always directed to the opening of those drains, through which nature carries out all impurities from the body, it affords precisely the amount of assistance she requires to enable her to cure every variety of disease. It being a regetable preparation, and acting in hermony with our constitution, it realways the right medicine to be administered. A single dose will in most cones afford relief, and if persevered with, will always effect a cure.

In using the Indian Purgative, for Indian Vegetable.

If this effect is obtained every other function will be duly performed. The skin and kidneys will each be attimulated to discharge their pormal and the snergy imparted by this extion of impurities, and the energy, imparted by this ex-traordinary medicine to the blood, will enable that fluid to disengage and deposits its impure particles into the boursts, from whence they will be carried off by the regular action of those organs.

One great advantage, porcessed by the ladien Pills over every other medicine in that are they cure disease the right medicine is that as they can'd disease upon natural principles and will all complaints, they are always the right medicine to be administered, and, consequently, can never be taken improperly, therefore, no time should be lost in listening to contradictory advice, the only inquiry should be jut the person sick? If so, the sooner a few doesn't the Indian Pills are administered, the account will the patient be reatored to health and usefulness.
